“It used to be that you had adolescence, and then you finished school and went to work and became an adult. We inserted another stage — youth — by ordering everybody off to college at the end of adolescence. This gave us a whole new class — highly educated people who could afford the luxury of applying adult critical facilities to our society because they weren’t going to lose jobs or neighborhood status by being unorthodox. With adolescent idealism and adult sensibilities, they were uniquely equipped not only to criticize our flaws but also to act. They’ve made us ask questions that we should have asked for ourselves years ago, and that’s good. They’re usually not very tolerant of those who dress different from them, and that could be bad.”¹

Mores Change

“In these ten years . . . the young transformed. Honesty surfaced. Many showed a new cool kind of courage when they dropped out of school, copped out of Vietnam duty, refused to work for what they considered the rotten establishment . . . (along with) their revolt against hypocrisy, their euphoric devotion to rock music, and their mystic unity. Incredibly, they gathered 300,000 strong at the rainsoaked Woodstock Music and Art Fair in Bethel, New York last August. Before their elders’ unbelieving eyes, boys and girls lived together, dressed as they pleased, and smoked marijuana as happily as their grandparents had drunk Prohibition whiskey.”²

(2) Look, December 30, 1969. (The Sixties)

“The volume of sexual intimacy among the young dwarfs anything experienced by their parents . . . the older generation had no pill, more guilt and less opportunity. . . . One thing is sure — the boy girl sexual revolution is deep and wide and Puritan America is gone forever”₃

Change NOW . . .

“Why won’t you listen to my side? . . .”

“We don’t have time. Look. If the manager of a big business operates at a loss year after year, do the owners sit around and listen to his explanations? Hell, no. They fire him and get someone who can run the thing at a profit. Same with this society. You’ve made a mess of it, poverty, war and racism. Now we’ll run it our way. We’ll save your alibis for the historians.”⁴

(4) Ibid.

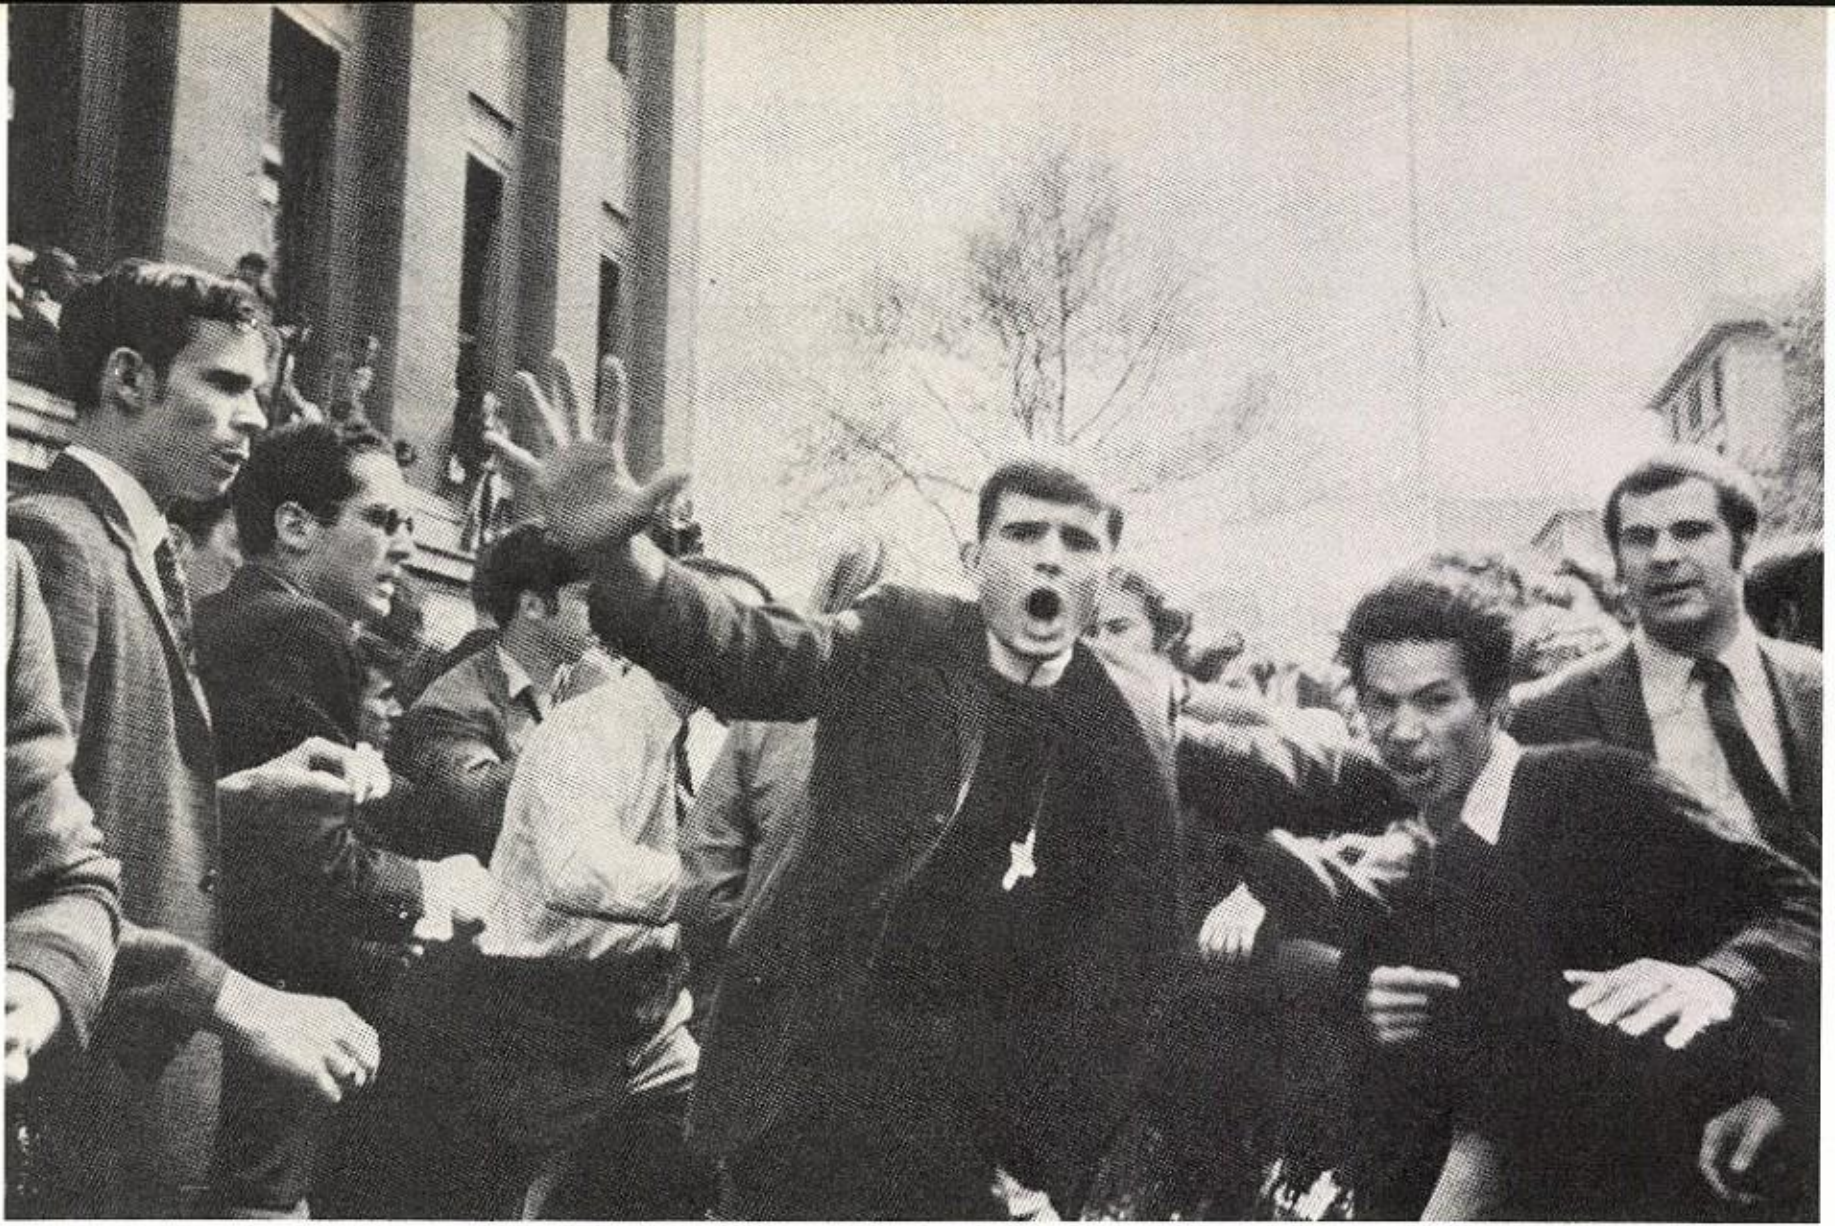

VIOLENTLY...

or Peacefully

“The Kids, it would seem, have become the symbol of almost everything that alarms or irritates their elders To older America, the Kids . . . scorn the noble work on which their parents have built their lives.”⁵

(5) Ibid

Conflict . . .

"Mr. Rockefeller states that these new relationships are 'marked by a new sense of maturity, by trust, and by openness.' Just how mature is it to embark on these new relationships, oblivious to the feelings of parents and loved ones . . . all in the name of openness and depth? 'The New Chivalry' isn't the word for it . . . I'd call it the 'New Selfishness.'"⁶

(6) Look November 18, 1969. "Letters to the Editor." This letter is an answer to an article written by John D. Rockefeller III entitled "The New Chivalry" in which he discusses the merits of youth's New Morality.

And Confusion

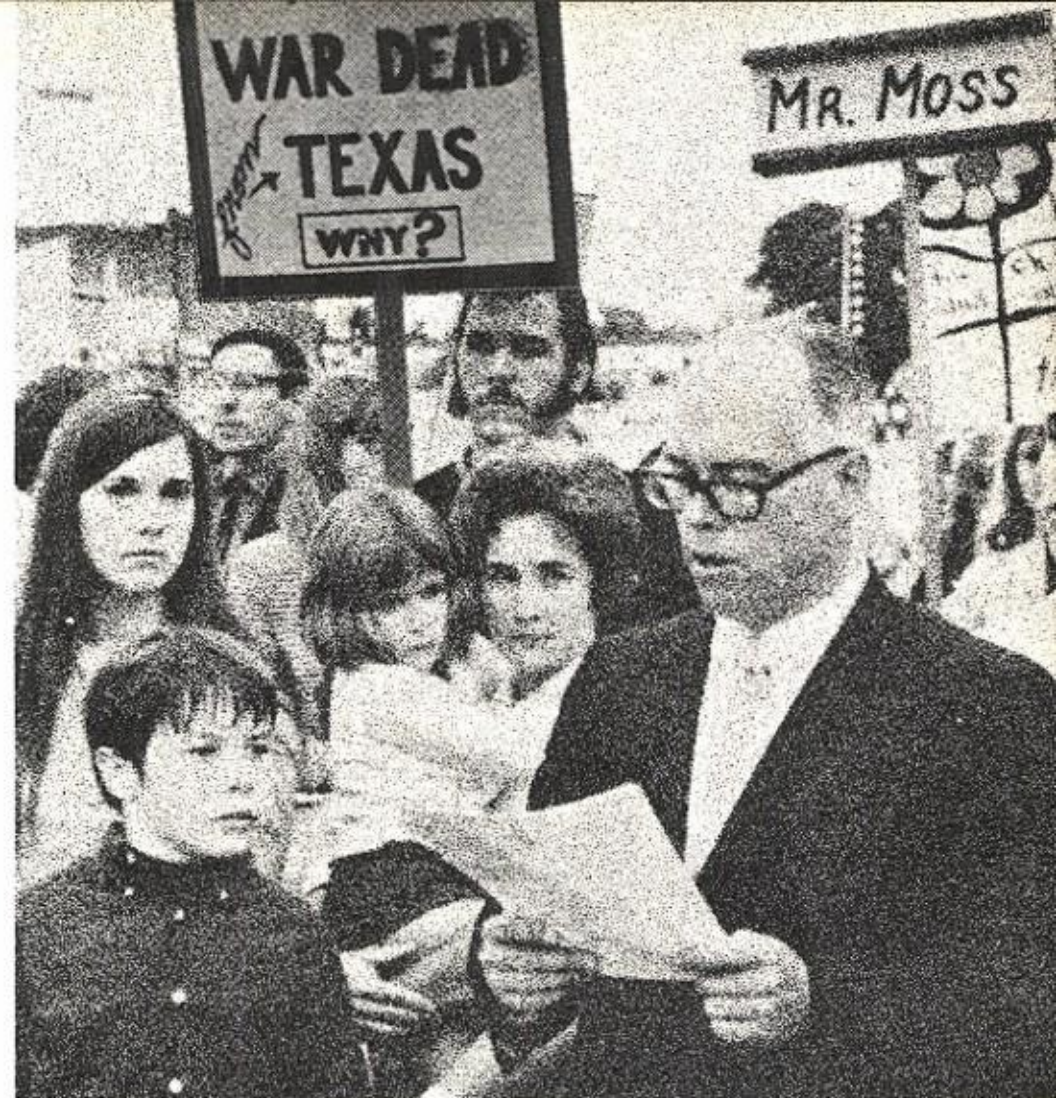

Much of the confusion of change results from the fact that we are in change, not merely witnessing it:

"I fight for change, but change, with all its unanswered questions, bothers, even frightens me. I'm less comfortable. I guess that's it."⁷

"All institutions are being shaken, and older people are getting anxious."⁷

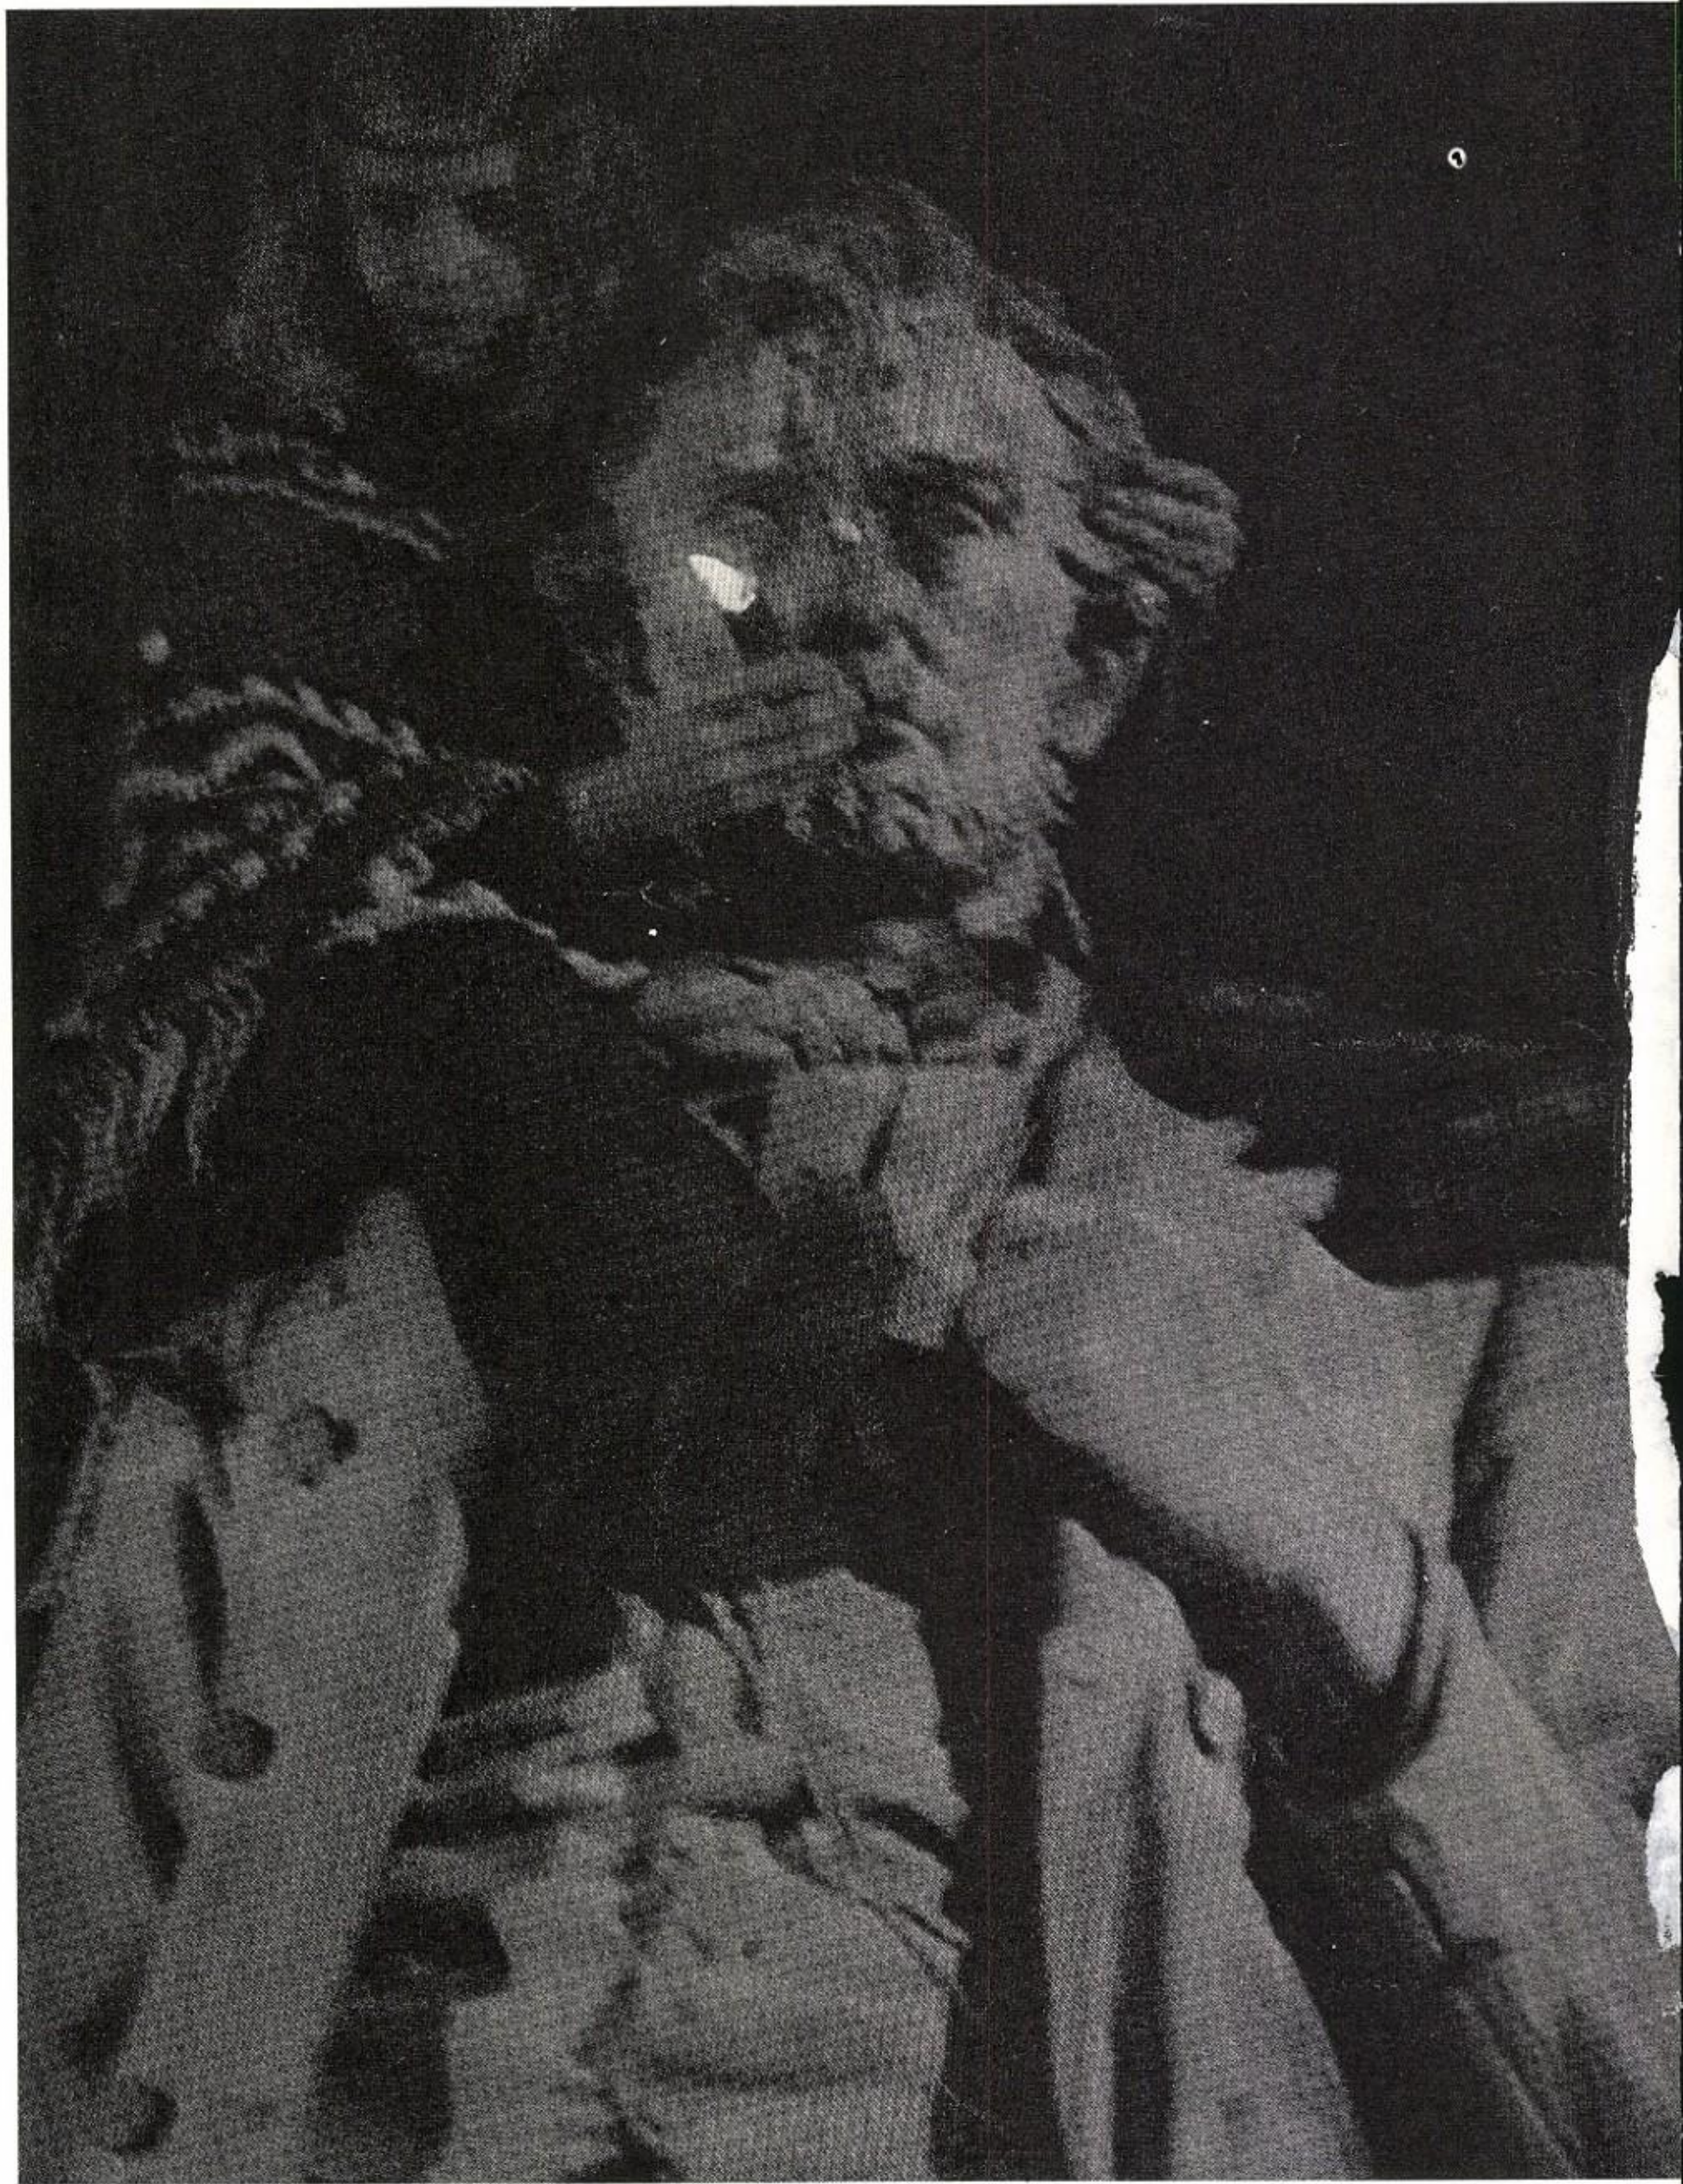

"Changes are so swift in everything, it's hard to learn to live with them."⁷

(7) Look, November 18, 1969. (What's Worrying America? — Fletcher Kneble)

"People are disturbed, anxious, apprehensive. They are sick of the war, baffled by the young, nervous about change"⁸

(8) Ibid

“In such a fantastic and dangerous world — we will not find answers in old dogmas, by repeating outworn slogans, or fighting on ancient battlegrounds against fading enemies long after the real struggle has moved on. We ourselves must change to master change. We must re-think all our old ideas and beliefs before they capture and destroy us . . . America must look to its young people, the children of this time of change. And we look especially to that privileged minority of educated men who are the students of America.”

Atlas

Well, I suppose, by and large and in the main, it was educational, interesting, and altogether worthwhile to be a part of the Atlas. A lot of the time it was a damn ball and chain. I liked it though and in the end, we were all glad we had done it. We appreciated meeting a challenge with a bit of success. There were so few who made it work that we all felt that we were producing a paper.

There was quite a lot of laughing. Boy. Sometimes we really laughed. We laughed at the paper, at the advisors and you. Actually there was some cursing too. We cursed the paper, the advisors and you. The best time was layout. That period taxed our creativity, logic and stamina, both mental and physical. My, how the "heads" did roll. The reward and self satisfaction attained through layout is comparable to few things I have known.

Another of the more meaningful ends of the endeavor came from the writing. This is where the whole community was allowed to take part in some sort of literary communication. Our articles ranged from the philosophic belch, on to the cynic's acidic comment, through the tweak of the administrative nose to the sports report and the humorous trivia.

Many a deadline night found the staff waiting for Godot. Regardless of the failure of many people to write the assigned material, what we received from the free-lance division always balanced things out so that we could go to press.

The advisors were good despite some of their traditional newspaper values. We can proudly boast that we operated uncensored and that the advisors forced nothing upon the staff. Many thanks for that.

The most inspirational phase of the entire operation was reading the printed paper. Had this not been so, the paper would long since have gone defunct. An enjoyable extracurricular activity.

DRAMATICS

"If you're going to do it, then do it right. If you're not going to do it, then do it right anyway."

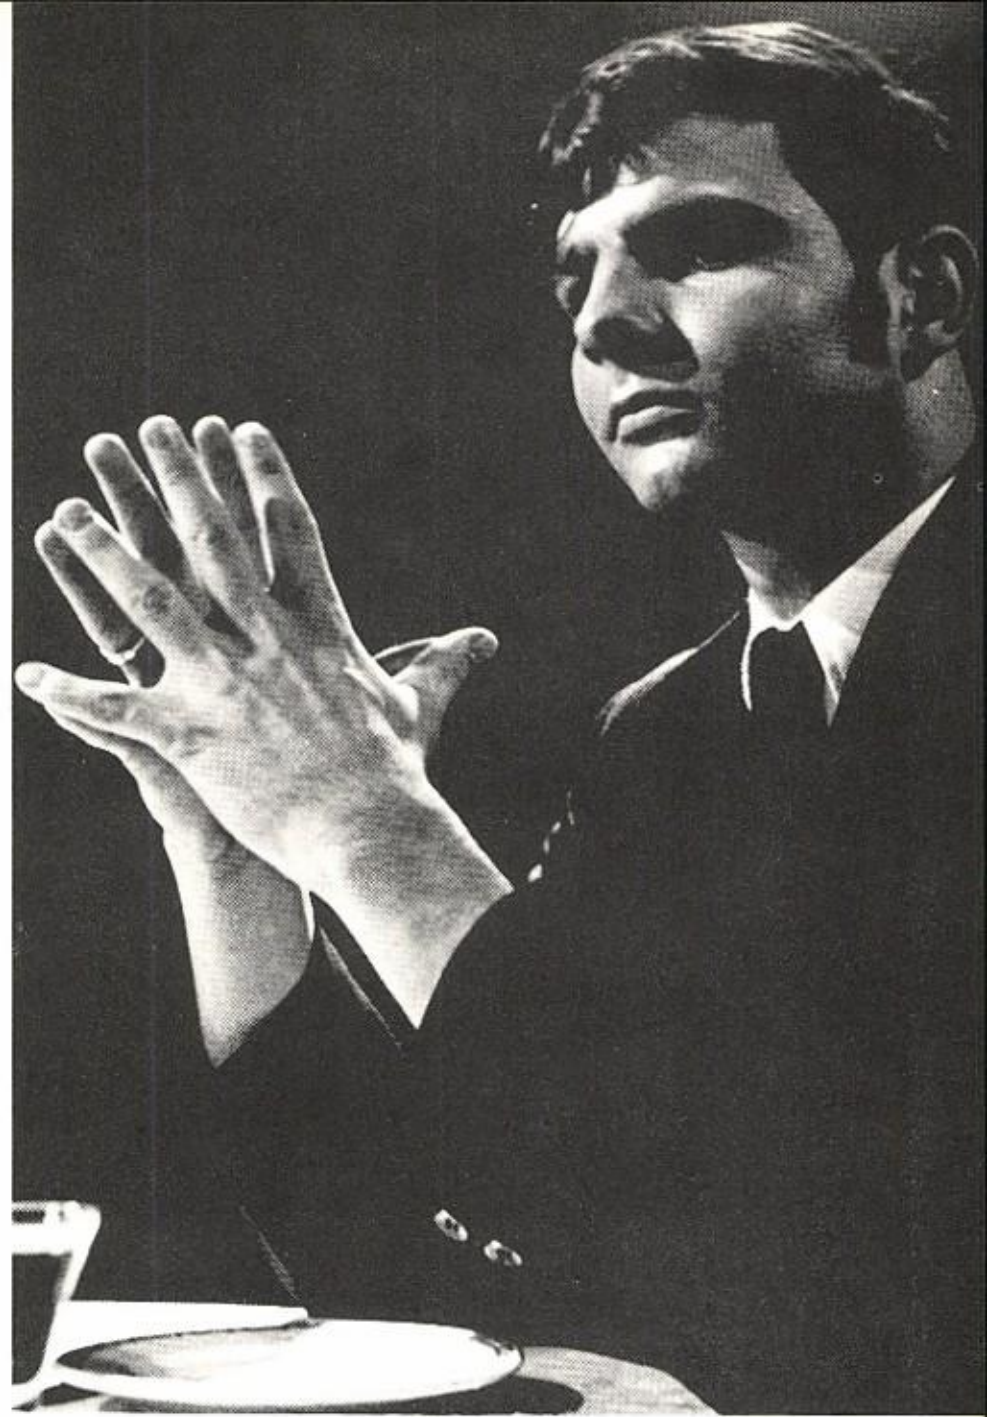

— Arthur Kelley

"Quiet please . . . take your places . . . alright; begin." ". . . What's the first word . . . I know the rest . . ." "WWWWHAT?! YOU DON'T KNOW YOUR LINES YET? . . . oh god, try it again. And the first word is 'the' "

And so went practice for approximately seven weeks this fall, with the actors occasionally forgetting a first word or so, and with Mr. Kelley's occasional prompting. By November 13 the Dramatics Club was more than prepared for its three night run. Ursuline Academy combined the talents of Diane Billodeau with Wilbraham's Hugh O'Reilly and a strong supporting cast to present John Galsworthy's The Mob. After the third performance, the director came into the green room, and with a sigh of relief spoke; "We've done it."

The Dramatics Club, with Bill Spector, president; Don Strauss, vice-president; and Peter Rentschler, secretary; did do it, but only with the tremendous coaching ability of Mr. Arthur Kelley, Jr. It is through the efforts of Mr. Kelley that the Dramatics Club has a chance to function, being one of the most forward contributors to Wilbraham Academy. Interest in the club has grown quite a bit this year, with strong support by underclassmen, showing that next year the club can promise even more superior productions.

Gold Key

This year the Gold Key Organization under the leadership of Bob Bardwell, Wayne Wexler and Bill Spector continued to carry out the duties which it undertook several years ago.

The Gold Key is one of the more unique and important organizations on campus. Aside from occasional consultations with its new faculty advisor, Mr. Nye, the duties of the Gold Key are fulfilled by the officers and members. As it has demonstrated its reliability, its sense of responsibility and its ability to produce a true image of the school for any visitors, its stature with both guests of the school and Wilbraham students has increased.

The primary purpose of the Key is to give guests of the school — whether they be alumni, prospective students or visiting teams — any assistance which they might need while on campus, to give them a picture of what the school is: its heritage, its purpose, its goals for the future.

Testaments to the rise in stature of the Gold Key, despite its youth, are plentiful. It has been given the responsibility of giving potential students a view of Wilbraham from the point of view of one who understands what they are looking for in a school. It has been entrusted with serving, along with faculty wives, at certain receptions following athletic events which take place here at school. The single most important moment for the Gold Key, however, was the buffet dinner held for the Class Agents and guests at which the Gold Key was requested to serve.

While the Gold Key is an example of Wilbraham to guests, it is also interesting, constructive work requiring a great deal of time and dedication on the part of those who wish to help the school.

THE STUDENT PROJECT ASSOCIATION

Of all the activities at Wilbraham, the Student Project Association is perhaps the most unique. In the past the Project has been the vehicle by which the students of the Academy have aided international education. With the 1969 Project Board setting a precedent, the Project has expanded radically throughout these past three years. The concept of foreign scholarships and a Drive being the totality of Student Project is past; our future is boundless.

This year Wilbraham witnessed the broadening of Project horizons. Following the trend of an annual colloquium, this year's colloquium co-chairmen, Rick Forshay and Frank Reese, produced the most rewarding and memorable colloquium yet. The subject, "Permissiveness in the American University," proved to be relevant and exciting in the aftermath of last year's colloquium on the Secondary School. After eleven months of trials and tribulations the colloquium opened, its first topic being "Admissions and Curriculum in the American University." A dignified list of speakers, including Robert Kirkpatrick, Dean of Admissions at Wesleyan; Clara Ludwig, Dean of Admissions at Mount Holyoke; Richard Ohmann, Chancellor of Wesleyan; Chase Peterson, Dean of Admissions at Harvard; and Edward Wall, Dean of Admissions at Amherst, gave the colloquium an intriguing start.

Professor Gerald Schaflander of Boston University spoke on constructive student activism. Paul Weiss, former Professor of Philosophy at Yale and now at Catholic University, and Fred Hechinger, of the New York Times, debated the title of the colloquium itself. The colloquium concluded with a stimulating and hectic confrontation between Jerry Rubin, co-leader of the yippies, and Weiss, Hechinger, and Calvin Plimpton, President of Amherst. This proved to be the exciting confrontation between a radical student faction and the Establishment which the Project Board tried to create. To say the least, it far exceeded our expectations as did the over-all success of this year's colloquium. It will be a difficult week-end to surpass for next year's board but a worthwhile challenge.

This is not to say, however, that this is the main function of the Student Project Association. The policy of awarding scholarships to deserving students was upheld with the continuation of Reinaldo Lopez from Springfield and the introduction of Dietmar Muller from West Germany. The Northern Education Service entered its third year of Project sponsorship. Chairman Rick Clifton strove to expand N.E.S. but was often confronted with the "red tape" of Springfield's bureaucracy. Students participating in N.E.S. profited considerably from their one-to-one association with an underprivileged child in Springfield's ghettos.

The February Drive is anticipated so that this formidable expansion of the Project may continue. Chairman Bob Bardwell has worked hard in hopes that funds will be readily available for next year's functions.

Though entirely student run, the Project owes a debt of gratitude to Mr. John F. Kennedy, its faculty adviser. He labored endlessly in the background aiding the individual chairmen with advice or assistance. Without him, none of this year's success would have become reality.

Glee Club

Though smaller than groups in the past, this year's Glee Club continued the singing tradition of earlier years. In December we presented our annual Christmas concert with Stoneleigh-Burnham, performing traditional carols and some works by Bach. Under the direction of Mr. Stratton and co-presidents Richard Hirsch and Darius Mojallali, the club is preparing for concerts in the Spring with Miss Porter's and MacDuffie's schools. There is also preparation for the formation of a specialty group.

Juniors

Nothing is worse than having the sports drawn out in a class article while trying to get everyone's name in. So, here it is in one big lump.

Varsity Football: Nickerson, P. Burt, Jacque, Ritter, Hannah, Handel, Sigsbee, McDougall, Carmen, Gage, Nelson, Schneider and Mullen.

Varsity Soccer: Carrigan, Krairiksh, Tyler, Darlington, Perry, Low and Compton.

Cross-Country: Schlette, Holway, Blum and Bogoff.

Varsity Basketball: Rhodes, Schneider and P. Burt.

Swimming: Darlington, Jacque, Holway and Bogoff.

Varsity Wrestling: Miller, Lopez and Hine.

Varsity Skiing: Tyler, Rice and Compton.

Hockey: Sohn, McDougall and Shibley.

Rifle: Pratt and Milloff.

Doug Hannah was zooing.

Tyler, Zabar, Epstein and Sohn held prominent positions on the Atlas staff which also brings up the point that Tony Mazzola and Bill Low were the two guitarists in that infamous underground band Chucky Choquette and the Bruise Blakers.

Doug Hannah and Ted Schlette were zooing.

Gene Jacobson wore the nicest $15 belts in the entire school. Scott Z. and Holly, Dennis J. and Cindy, Fred and Wilma. Mark Milloff was the only junior who could make his own ice cubes.

Doug Hannah, Ted Schlette and Bob Ritter were zooing.

David Maged and Alan Unger had a pussycat in their room for quite a while.

Doug Hannah, Ted Schlette, Bob Ritter and Kel Tyler were zooing.

Scott Zelkin, Kevin Rhodes, Mark Milloff and Mark Darlington were the members of the newly initiated self-government of Rich Hall II South.

The whole floor was zooing.

Dennis Carrigan, Eric Rice, Mark Nickerson and Vic Shibley sure did make money on pizza runs.

Jeff Miller was the conductor of a marching band but everybody that showed up was crippled.

Dan Margolick and the night bat win the prize for the most outstanding relationship of the year.

All those who were juniors this year will be seniors next year.

Sophomores

And here we go. This blurb is to tell you that the class of '72 is a studious, athletic, normal frivolling herd. We are. It is also to get as many names as possible in the yearbook in the hope that we will all get into a good college. So let's start.

We were represented on the honors lists by Greg Merkel, Boz Lincoln, Mark Keroack and Mark Rattan (and many more in spirit.)

Now for the sports. We were very well represented, playing on almost all teams. We also had a good selection in that old American sport, Physical Education. But if you really want to look at your name, you'll have to turn to the sports section to admire it. For the illiterate, there are pictures, too.

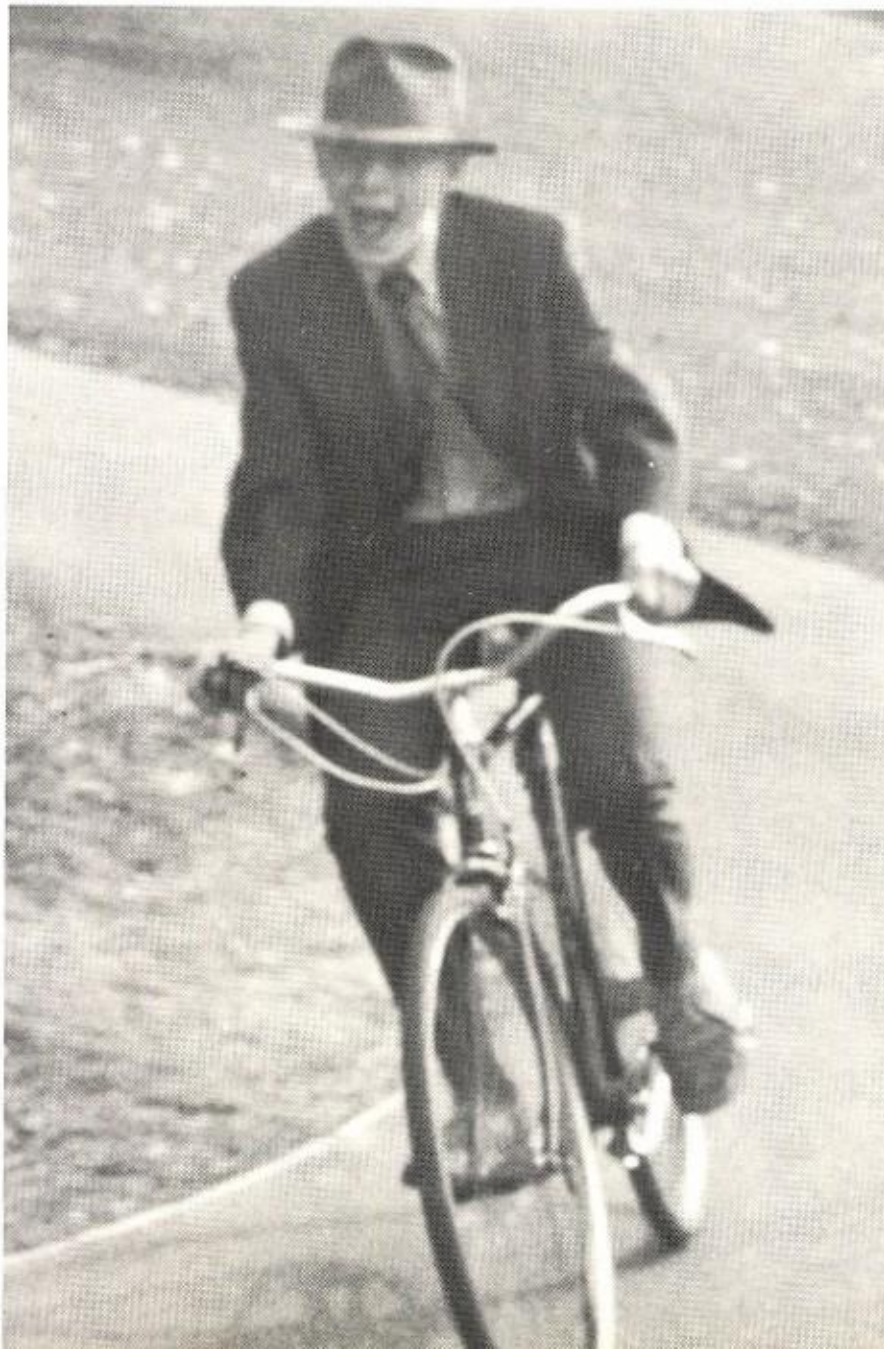

Sophomores were a large part of the Glee Club, employing Bill Davis, who has taken bouncer's responsibilities from Mr. Stratton at Glee Club dances.

Members of '72 complied with all the traditional idiocies such as Smith Hall snowball fights and Leechy Tie Day. But they also proved innovators.

The first president of the Water Polo Club, Andy Zehnder, was a sophomore. Now it can be told! The large scale extinguishing of third floor lights was the result of a sophomore organized soccer game. The bad part was all the broken glass.

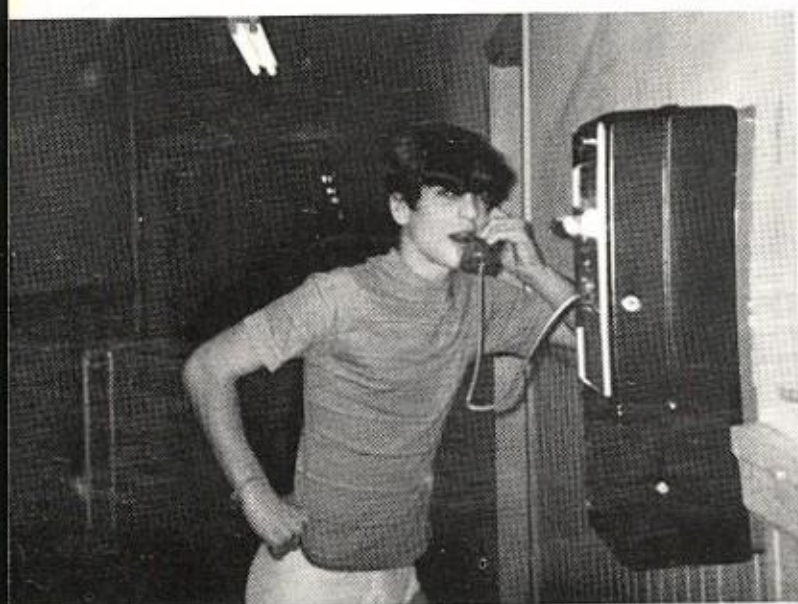

The celebrated Pussywillow Squirrelcat was the property of Brit Whelpley and Paul Worthington, occupying a number of rooms before discovery.

It was a good year. In the event that you still haven't seen your name, check the school catalogue. We predict great things for the class of '72.

FRESHMAN

The freshman class of 1969 seems to be composed of some of the most interesting characters that any prep school could acquire. We have a mixture of boys interested in all sorts of things. Some enjoy extra curricular activities and others athletics, and then there are some who are doing extensive research. This year we have had our share of members on the varsity teams. Three boys played varsity soccer and one of them was high scorer. There were also three freshmen on varsity swimming and three freshmen on varsity hockey. We seem to have a lot of kids who will do well in the world of tomorrow and accept the challenge that life offers them. When we graduate from Wilbraham we will always be able to look back on our freshman class and wonder whether some of the boys who went to school with us will remember the senior-underclassmen snowball fight, or the chocolate cream pie war. A class that offers the all-around person who has an interest in many things and who is interested in other people besides himself is a class that deserves the most praise, and we feel that our class is that class.

Debate Club?

The Debate Club enjoyed its first undefeated season this year. The team was composed completely of seniors and supported by Ted Schlette and Rick Kruger who proved to be quite competent managers. Besides having the most successful year, this year's team also carried one of the heaviest schedules in the history of the club. The year's calendar included fifteen meets and seven invitational multiple matches.

Co-captains Norman Landerman and Stanley Rosenblum proved to be the best coordinated team. Norman's superb control of the language and often employed wit gave the team a constant image of untouchable confidence. Stanley's quick thinking linked with his sharp voice and the ability to be quite sarcastic never failed the team in rebuttal.

Joe Montori and Jim Prudden had the highest record of any of the other teams. These two often proved to be the high point of most matches. Joe's stone penetrating stare and Jim's sometimes mocking smile provoked a number of blow-ups costing their opponents the match or wrecking any chances for the opposition to make a stable comeback.

Doug Jones and Doug Stone maintained an average no less commendable than any of the other teams. The team was a constant surprise to both opponents and observers alike. Never showing what might be racing through their minds they often caught the opposition by surprise and found them struggling for an answer to what was usually a well posed stumper. The ability of these two to constantly perform in this manner seldom failed to provide an interesting and entertaining match.

Charles O'Bryan, last but far from least, was a constant aid to the team. Charles has the ability to become involved in any topic from any side with the employment of skills rivalling those of William F. Buckeley. Charles' position on the team was due less to actual ability than to the fact that this is only his first year on debating team. All of Charles' teammates have confidence in Charles, and he will never have trouble joining other teams.

Mr. Garfield, coach and advisor to the Debate Club, deserves much of the credit for the success and ability of this year's team. The team readily admits that their success could not have been anywhere as great if it were not for the aid and guidance of Mr. Garfield. All members of the team are grateful to this man, and even though the whole team is graduating this year, they have every confidence that Mr. Garfield will be able to mold a team every bit as well as he did this year.

A tradition that we would like to develop at Wilbraham is a winning tradition. Everything else being equal, in the close games, it is the "team" that usually wins. The object of the game, as we all know, is to score more points than our opponents. That is our first objective. In addition, however, we know that there is much more to the game than just that. It is fun. It is considerably more fun when we win. It is satisfying because it demands certain things from the individuals participating which give them self-satisfaction: pride, courage . . .

This year's Varsity Soccer team concluded the season with a record of three wins, eight losses, and one tie. The record does not appear to be very successful in terms of victories and defeats but considering that only five lettermen returned, the team showed impressive strength throughout the season. The strength was most evident in the closing games of the season when the team posted two shutouts and lost a well played game to a strong undefeated Suffield team. The team improved greatly from its first game with Cushing to its last with Suffield. Much experience was gained throughout the season thanks to talented coaching of Mr. Fleck and Mr. Dodge; this experience will return next season along with thirteen veterans.

The team, captained by Pete Dabbaransi and Bill Low, played exceedingly well in many games but could not always obtain the necessary scoring punch in close games. At the beginning of the season, the front line had trouble getting their shots off in time. As the season passed, their scoring ability improved greatly.

Underclassmen Dave McDowell, Paul Sutatam, Kel Tyler, and seniors Doug Stone and Pete Dabaransi constituted the front line with Lionel Garcia, Dana Compton, and Dave Bursaw alternating in. Constituting the defensive unit were underclassmen Bill Low, Lek Krairiksh, Steve Kossoy and John Perry, along with seniors Mike Doyle and Peter Rentschler. Goalie Dennis Carrigan had a very successful season

With seven starters returning, including our three high scorers, two starting halfbacks and our fine goalie, prospects for next year are encouraging.

The 1969 Soccer II squad was plagued with bad luck all through the season. Only in the final games did they pull together enough to be able to call themselves a team.

After two quick defeats the jayvees came back strong and annihilated Monson behind Louis Siegel's hat-trick. The team suffered a tough loss to Choate in which we pulled together and allowed undefeated Choate only one goal; enough for a close defeat. Before a Founders' Day crowd the team came alive and shut out Pomfret 2-0. Then came arch-rival Williston. The game was decided on a freak goal and a missed penalty kick which spelled a 1-0 Williston victory.

The team played spirited soccer and should be well represented on next year's varsity contingent.

VARSIITY WRESTLING

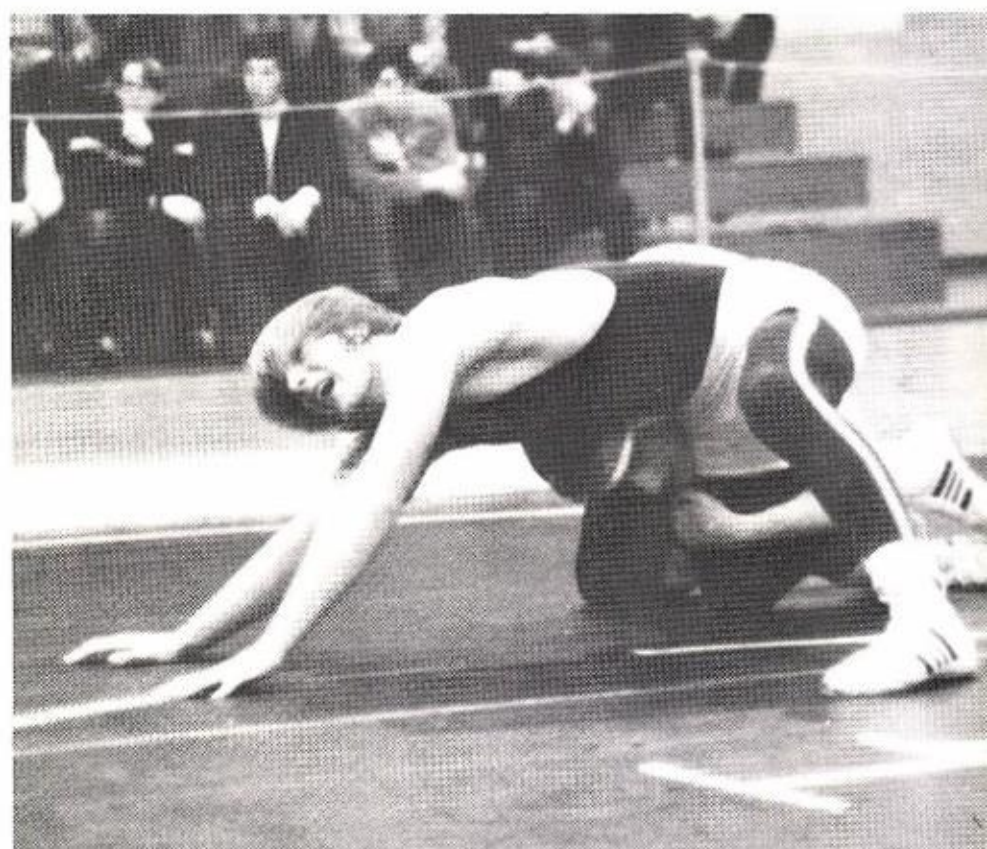

This year's Varsity Wrestling team began the season with probably its best group of wrestlers in many years. With 8 returning lettermen, plus some experienced newcomers, the outlook seemed very bright.

They opened the season by walloping Avon by a score of 48-10, recording five pins in the process. They continued the momentum in our own Invitational Tournament by beating seven other teams with a total score of 135 points. In this tournament, Rick Forshay was named the M.V.P.

Next in line was Cushing, and there wasn't too much trouble there, as the Coachmen won by 47-3.

In the Suffield match, the team's momentum was stalled as Suffield defeated them by a score of 23-17. It was a close match, not being decided until the final seconds, but it was a heartbreaking setback. However, like a championship team, they rebounded from the Suffield defeat by winning their next five matches and the momentum has swung back to them again.

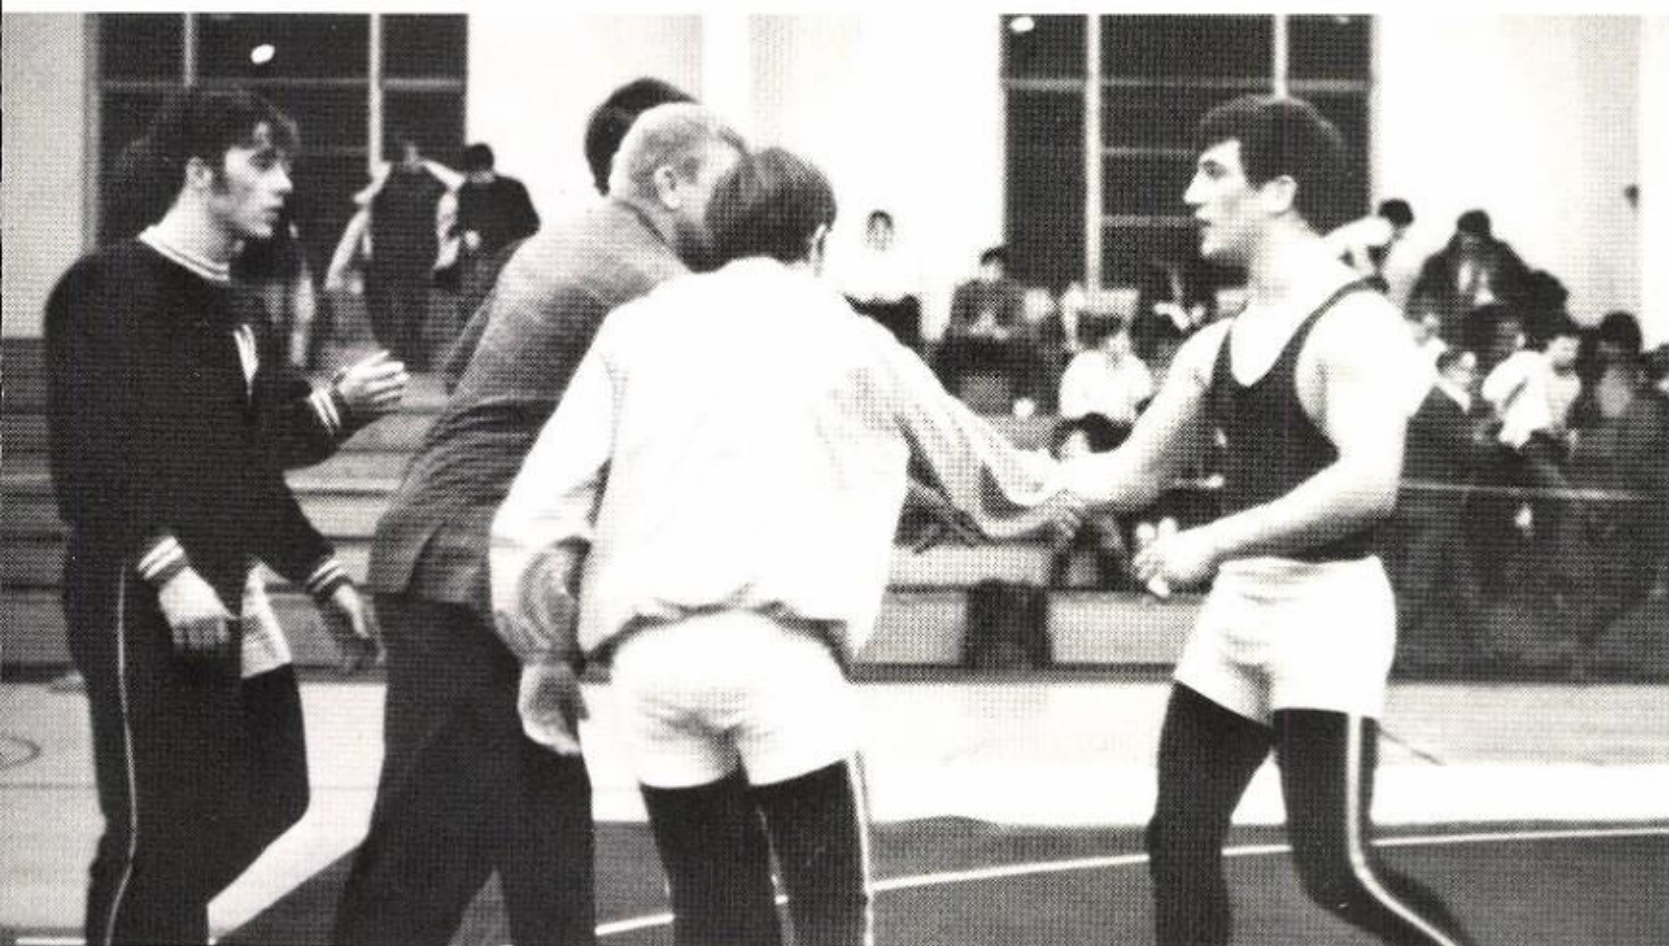

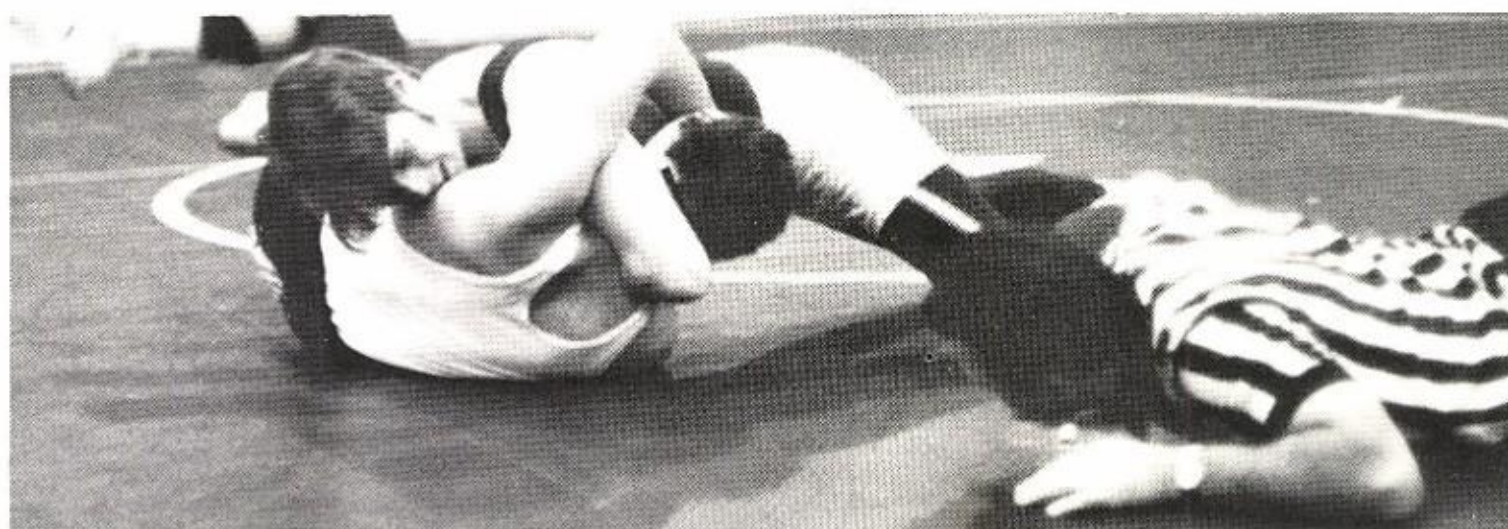

Some individual records that deserve mention have been achieved by Marty Eramo and Jeff Miller who are both battling for the Best Wrestler award, while other wrestlers contributing to the team's fine season were: Gantman, Grelak, Owens, Reese, Keedy and Nickerson.

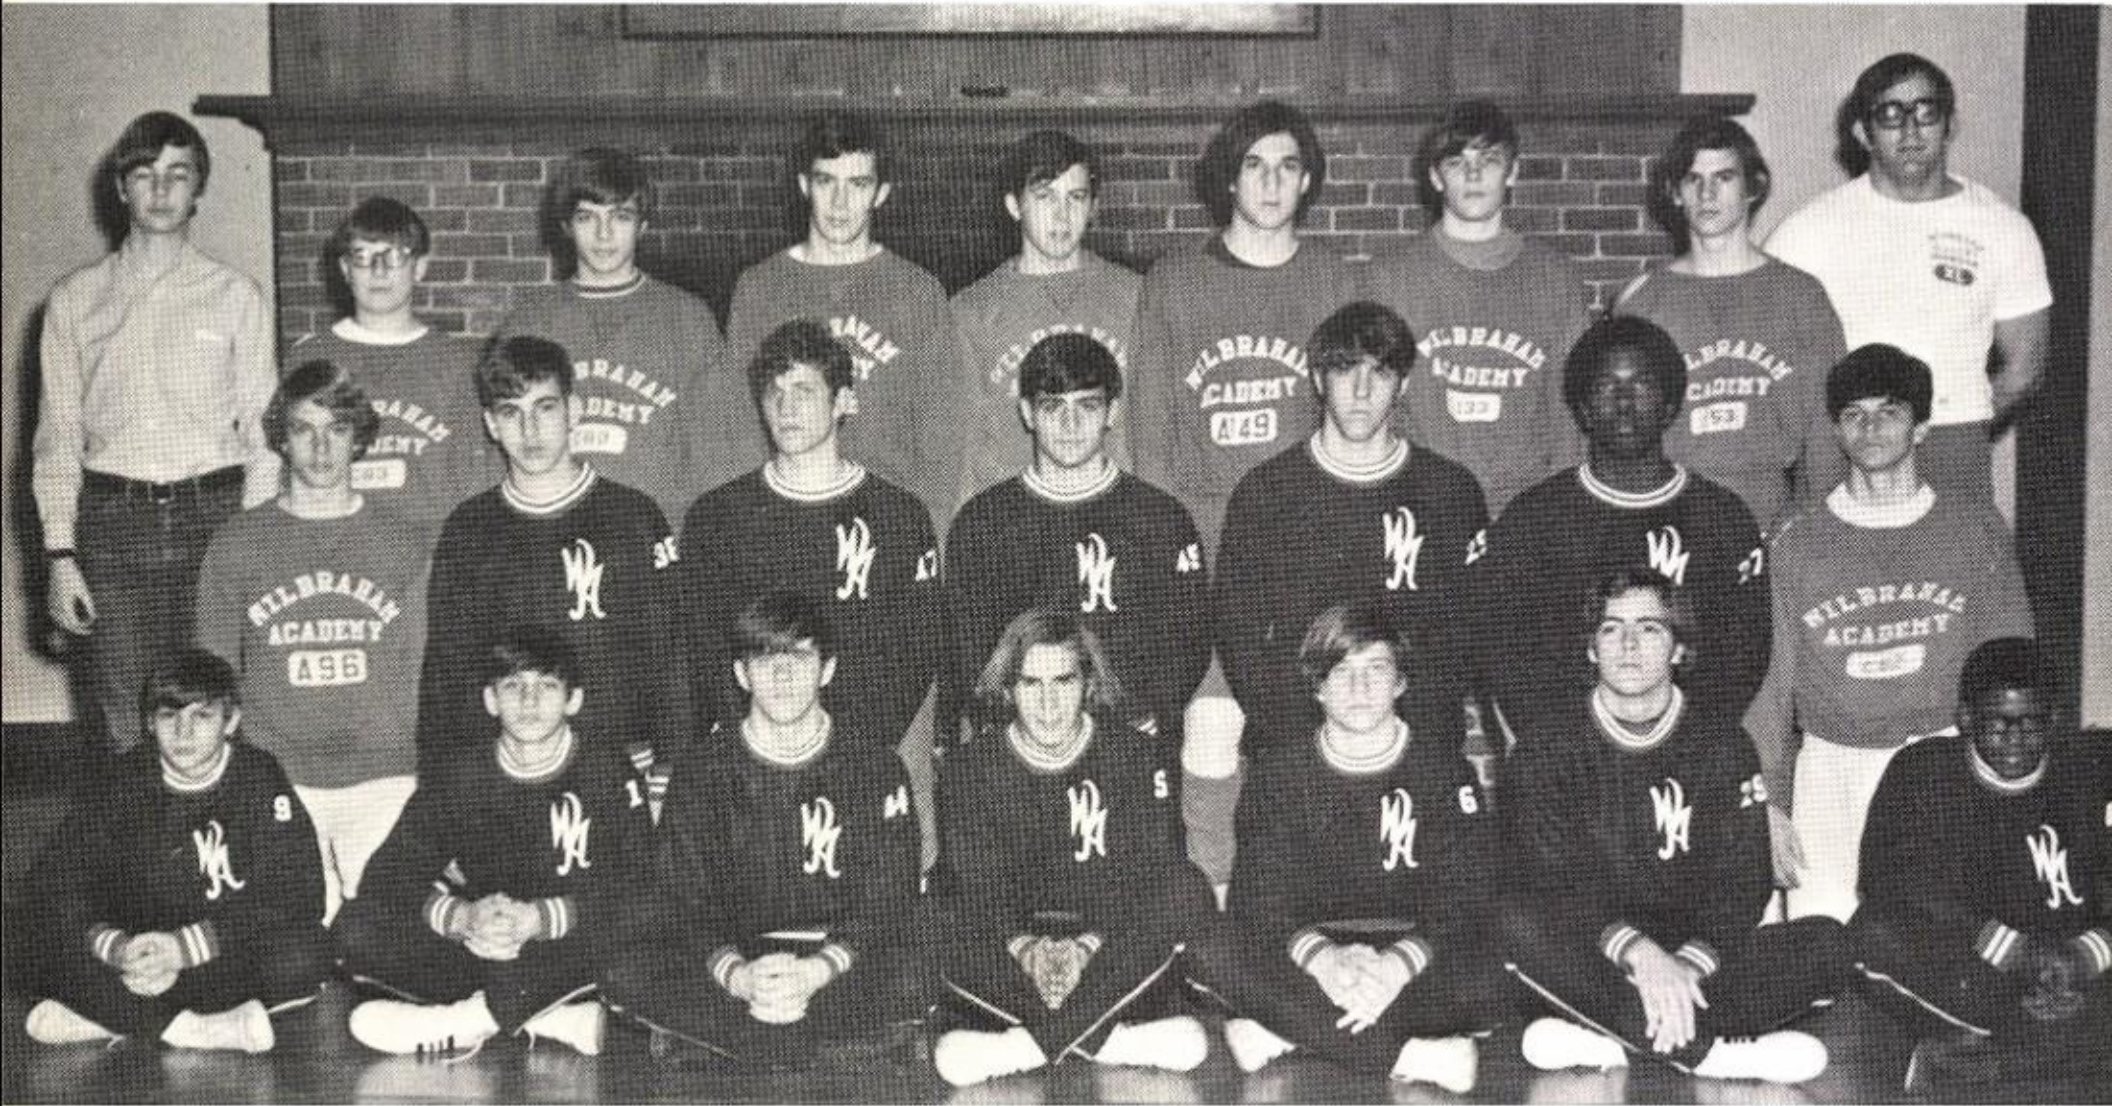

First Row; Baron, Jeff Miller, Louis Siegel, John Hine, Marty Eramo, Rick Forshay, Marc Gantman. Second Row; Mr. Burger, Ned Owens, Blake Keedy, Gary Grelak, Frank Reese, J. R. Stone, Mark Nickerson.

Entering the season as defending champions of the Kingswood Invitational Tournament and the New England Class B Prep School Tournament, this year's Varsity Basketball team had their work cut out for them. After a disappointing performance at this year's K.I.T., in which they managed only one victory in three games, the team began the regular season with hopes of duplicating last year's success. However, they got off to a slow start winning only one of the first four games. By defeating a rival Suffield squad, it became evident that the needed experience had been gained. Since that time they have not lost a game.

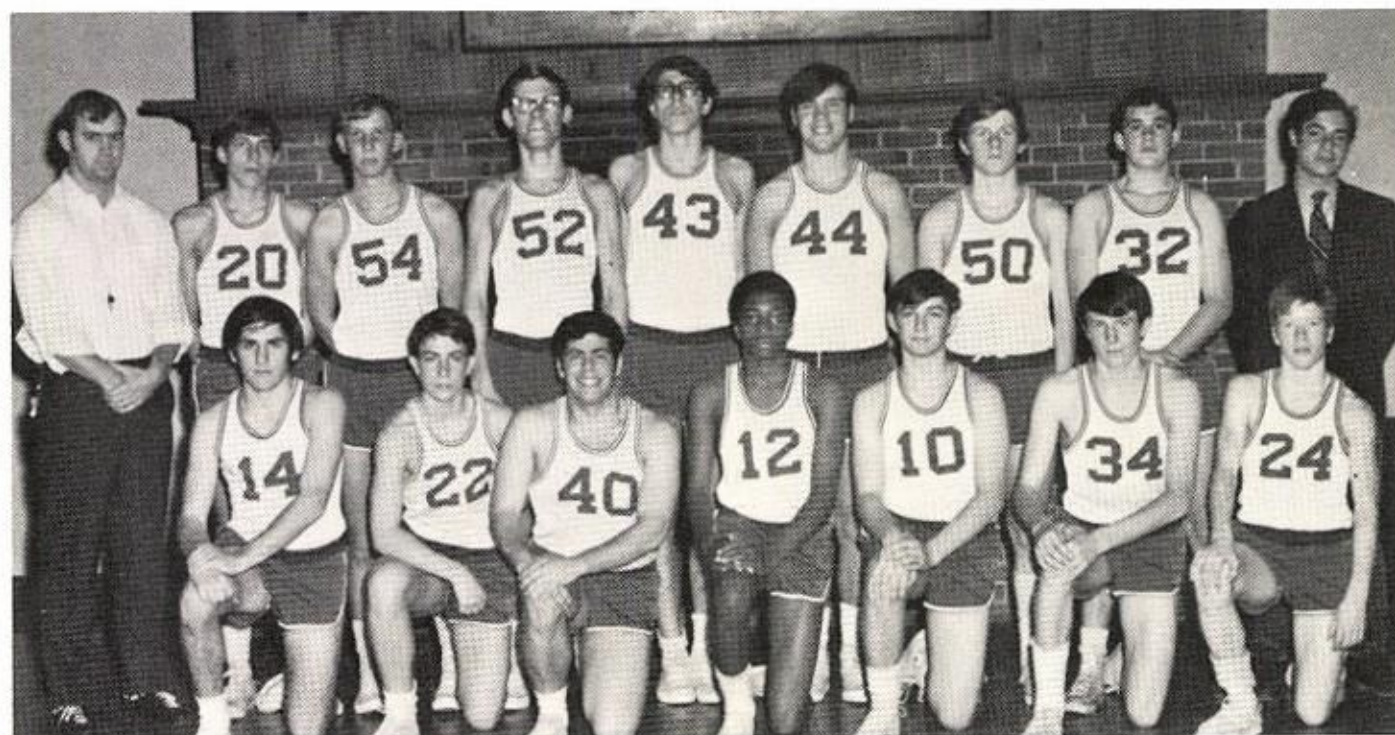

The team is strong in every area with Mike Doyle leading in scoring, John Wrezsien dominating the board, John Squires containing the opponent's leading scorers. Ed Bonnett and Kevin Rhodes make up the backcourt.

Whenever the regulars became tired, Coach Shepperd lost little potency turning to his bench where he had freshman Dave McDowell, who averaged close to 10 points a game, and Junior Ken Schneider at his disposal.

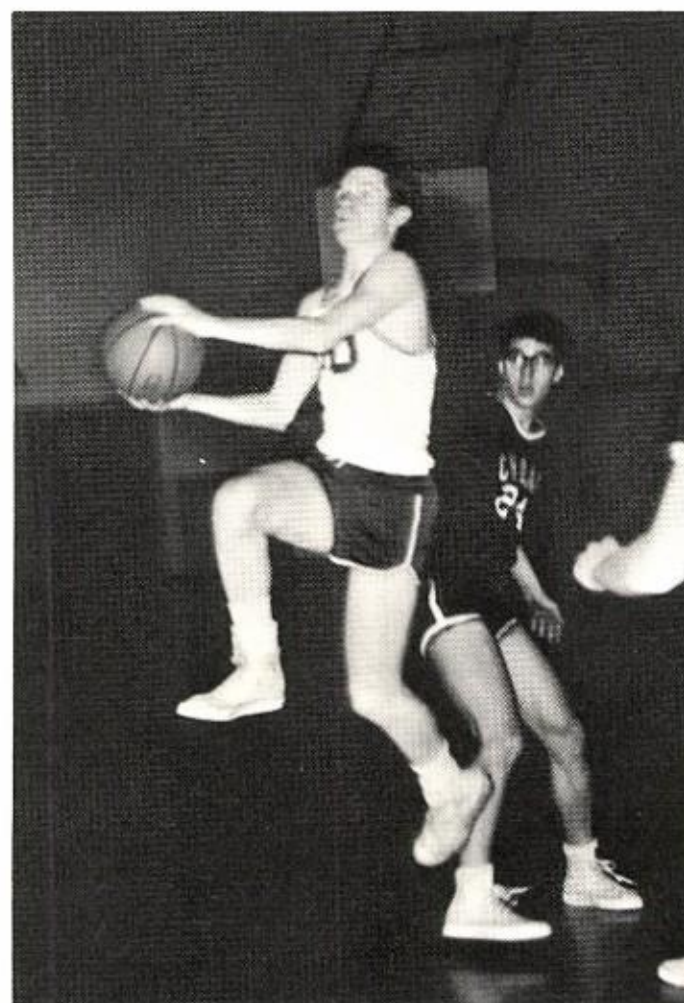

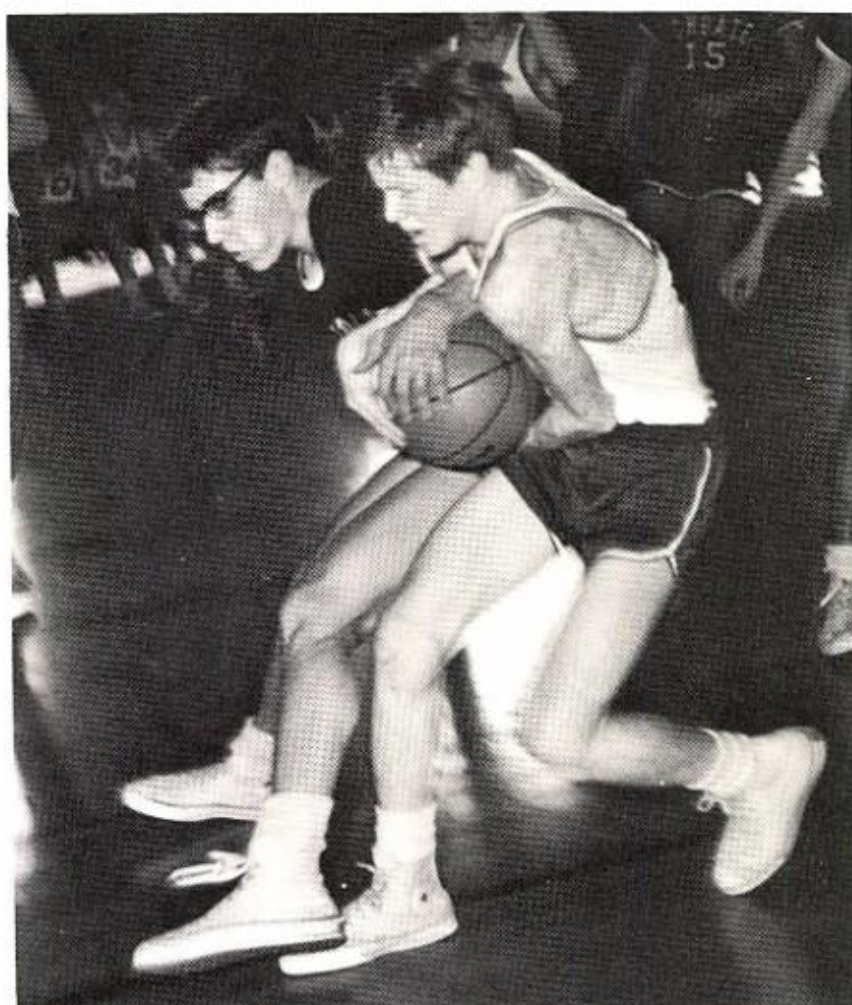

The fact that this year's squad had five underclassmen as opposed to last year's one should be a sign that future Wilbraham basketball teams should be very strong.

Beef pie highlighted this ski season. Everyone had a bite or two. The pie was Mr. William's contribution to the team besides his fine coaching.

Besides beef pie, this team had plenty of skiing. Mr. Cramer, despite rumor, provided us with many valuable hours of practice. It was only a combination of weather and rugged terrain which forced us from her majestic slopes. Once driven from Mt. Cramer, the team continued practicing with a rigorous exercise program, as Scranton and Ahlefeld will testify.

There was quite an extensive meet scheduling, which, regardless of snow or the expense of Clarke's leg, was fulfilled. The improvements in both technique and team consciousness over last year were tremendous. These improvements in next year's team and there is a potential for winning. Certainly the most improved skiers this year were Keeny and Tyler. McMahon, you're an acrobat, not a skier.

We lost a few, we blew a few, we ----- a few, and we won a few. We all had fun, right Flip?

For many years, Wilbraham has been planting the foundations for a promising Hockey Team. With the aid of this year's team, the foundation should be complete. Throughout this year, the team has been experiencing the power of many strong teams, all of which were not in Wilbraham's league. Such teams as Mount Hermon were played. In that particular game, Wilbraham suffered a defeat by three goals, the final score being 4-1. The score should not discredit the team's fine performance. Among all of Wilbraham's competitors, the weather has to be considered one of their toughest, for sometimes the team would go as long as two or three days without practice. With all these blockades, the team still managed to sustain a record.

Experienced newcomers like Joe Montori, Dan Crowley and Bill Clark contributed a great deal to the team, and with the added strength of last year's veterans, Henry Downey, Mike McDougall and Howard Sohn, the team played well together in spite of its record.
